

Answer Symposium :
Response to JAL2016 Workshop “Recommendations for More Effective
Dissemination of Information on Japanese-Art-Related Materials III”
- Getting beyond the “Same Old Same Old”

February 3rd, Friday, 2017, 14 : 00-17 : 00 The National Museum of Modern Art, Toyo

In the JAL2016 open workshop (hereafter WS) held on December 9th last year, “Recommendations for More Effective Dissemination of Information on Japanese-Art-Related Materials III,” as was the case in 2015, the invited overseas experts identified important challenges in improving access to Japanese art resources in our country. This ‘answer symposium’ aims to respond to their suggestions for improvement - most of which have already been made by past JAL participants but not yet come to fruition - and set clear, feasible goals to overcome the identified challenges. Put differently, it is an attempt to create a platform to stop reflecting on the same old issues and move forward. Drawing on their research and experience, the speakers will address the need to go further in utilizing the outcomes of the three-year JAL project and discuss how to make it happen.
